Interim Management & Placement Services

A flexible, cost effective approach to today's need for comprehensive management skills

think success

A flexible, cost effective approach to today's need for comprehensive management skills.

In a perfect world your company would be flying high, achieving goals, marching forward, embracing new technology and producing vibrant projects. No employee would leave and all your management team would be capable of taking on new skills in an instant, understanding the nuances and procedures involved.

If any of the above statement makes you think "if only", then come and talk to Vantis Interim Management & Placement Services.

We understand that everyone needs a hand or a new way of thinking, but does not necessarily want to employ another expensive professional - so you "borrow one" from a dedicated bank of senior executives.

- Managing Transition Crisis

Why use an Interim Manager?

- In times of crisis they can lead the Management team through difficult decisions and communicate with the stakeholders and creditors in clear and concise terms
- Interim Managers are highly qualified and diversely experienced individuals who will assimilate both information and the culture of the business to facilitate quick and efficient results and are invariably over qualified for the job
- They work as an independent within your existing management team, unencumbered by politics and protocols
- With the advantage of hindsight, they are mindful of the pitfalls and will negotiate through to a successful conclusion
- A typical assignment will last between 3 and 9 months. You pay only a daily rate and no holiday entitlement, sickness benefit, pension or any colour handshake
- A senior financial Interim Manager can add gravitas at board level when aiming for flotation, management buyout/ buyin with merger and acquisition situations and can add value to due diligence
- They will transfer additional skills and contacts to your existing team
